Spotlight : Greg Mallett

Greg Mallett of Defiance, Ohio has been racing on and off since 1991. He began racing a KZ650 when he was 14 at the Dash For Cash races in Muncie, Indiana. His interest was sparked when his dad began racing a KZ1000 street bike at Avilla Dragway in 1988. It was soon after when Greg had his first race, getting down to the final three bikes in Street ET that he began racing his dad's bike. He and his dad would race every weekend at Avilla Dragway with NHDRO racers, Jim Underhill, Mark Musselman and Bob Mann.

Since his racing journey began, Greg has accomplished quite a bit. Some of his accomplishments include: 2002 IDBA St Louis Event Pro ET Box Winner, 2011 NHDRO Pro ET Champion, 2011 IDBA St Louis Event Pro ET Box Winner and multiple NHDRO races and weekend bracket races. As a sales engineer for Iscar, a carbide cutting tool company, he assists machine shops with their machining problems by providing them with better processes and tooling. When it's cold, Greg takes up deer hunting. A man of many talents!

Coming to an NHDRO race for Greg means he is going to get a cool t-shirt and of course enjoy a great weekend with his racing friends, all the while appreciating the NHDRO race schedule and staff. Greg also has appreciation for his lovely wife (Anne Marie), his dad (Steve Mallett), and great friend (Scott Kauffman). We cannot forget Earl Ealey who always a help at the track, Steve Sharkey his engine builder, Ray Mancini his Chassis builder and last but certainly not least - Dave Page.
